Short Title: Centerville City Baseball Program Discussion

RECOMMENDATION

BACKGROUND

In 1999, Centerville City was asked to take over the Centerville Baseball Program due to concerns of mismanagement of the program, which had experienced a sharp decrease in participation from residents. Prior to 1999, the baseball program operated as a separate association with only one member to oversee the entire program. The City hired Richard Hunt to coordinate the program and many other coordinators since. We have experienced more participation in the program due to their level of involvement and care.

Over the years, the program has grown to the point where additional volunteers were required to ensure the success of the program. The baseball program independently setup a committee of volunteers to assist with the operation and oversight of the program. Staff has serious concerns about the establishment of a committee with no City involvement. Additionally, the City hiring process for new employees is not being observed by the baseball program.

If the program is to remain affiliated with the City, we need to develop a process that is consistent with City policies and procedures and consistent with State law. One serious concern with implementing this process is the possibility of disrupting the positive direction of the program by introducing City policies and procedures; however, they must be followed.

The other option is the possibility of the baseball program returning to an association as it was prior to 1999. This would allow the program to continue to be run how it has, for at least the past year, with little disruption. Continuing to build on the positive momentum. This option does raise concern with the lack of City oversight in the program, creating the possibility of it being mismanaged over time as it was in the past.
